UX DESIGN ENTHUSIAST

I am a former Oil & Gas Engineer who fall in love with UX design. I used my experience in data analysis to help me grow in UX design and research. Every time I used website or mobile apps which ease my life I always wonder about the team behind it and want to be a part of it. A meaningful user experience can define the customer journey on website or mobile apps that make a business to success. Let me know how we can collaborate together to grow.

SKILL

CASES STUDIES

I have several cases studies from my training program. This is a selection of my most recent & relevant user experience design projects.

01 LUNCHEON APP, MEET YOUR PERSONAL COACH (Still on progress)

Sometimes we only want to talk to just one person but in depth in specific topics rather than with multiple people but still casual. It will accommodate user need by focusing conversation with one person. Someone can easily being ignore in group discussion.

02 REIMAGINE AN AI-POWERED RECIPE INGREDIENT SUBSTITUTION UX

Early data shows lower-than-expected user engagement with the current ingredient substitution experience. Increasing user engagement is important because it can be measured and leveraged to help Plant Jammer sell its solution.

03 REDESIGN GOFOOD MOBILE APP

I do user interview to empathize & define the problems before start ideate and prototype. I generate 4-5 pages that can be insert as additional flow in the apps.

Luncheon App

Meet your personal Coach (Still on progress)

Design Problems

The problem with most application are they not offer something personal or depth conversation within two people but mostly in group discussion. Sometimes we only want to talk to just one person but in depth in specific topics rather than with multiple people but still casual. The question is why we need one on one conversation? Because it will accommodate user need by focusing conversation with one person. Someone can easily being ignore in group discussion.

Target Users

The target audience are professional who want meet someone online based on their niche. So they can share knowledge but still casual like when we have conversation in coffee shop. Someone who want to have work balance, willing to develop community, and open minded but they hard to find new real people to hangout.

Research and Design Methods

For this project, survey are used for research method to know if there is a large market for this application. The survey conduct online with target audience are professional in the age 21 to 55 years old.

- a. How old are you? _____
- b. What gender are you? Female/Male
- c. What is your profession? _____
- d. Are you work from home? Yes/No

Answer following question below with:

1. Strongly agree 2. Slightly agree 3. Netral 4. Slightly disagree 5. Strongly disagree

- a. Community app is important
- b. I want to develop my community
- c. It hard to find someone real in social media
- d. I want to have lunch or coffee break conversation with someone online discuss about my hobby, business or profession
- e. I like to talk one on one rather than multiple group
- f. Talk one on one with expert can have more insight rather than group
- g. Talk one on one with expert can more helpful to solve problem rather than group
- h. I like to be a personal mentor/coach
- i. I like to have a personal mentor/coach

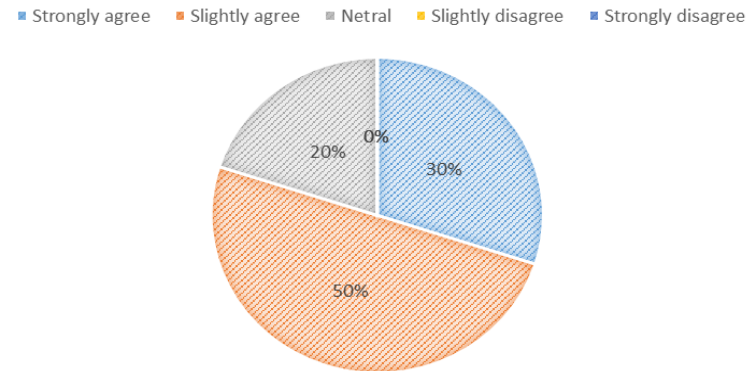

User Needs Analysis

The survey data were gathered, now it's time for user need analysis. Some of the participants were web developers, chefs, musicians, students, and authors. The age range was from 19 – 50 years old.

Persona & Scenario

Daniel

Personas: Concretizing User Needs

Motivators

- Senior level career
- Want to have work balance
- Willing to develop community
- Willing to gain and share knowledge
- Open minded

Demographics

Age : 35
Occupation : Product Manager
Location : Adelaide, Australia
Life Stage : Married, 1 Children

Constraints

- Doesn't like dating application cause he want to meet profesional only
- Digital settler, work from home
- Hard to find new real people to hangout
- High technical literacy

Safitri

Motivators

- Entry level career
- highly motivated to meet new people
- Want to improve skill
- Want to collaborate
- Open minded

Demographics

Age : 27
Occupation : Natgeo Writer
Location : Unknown
Life Stage : Single

Constraints

- High mobility, travel alot
- Digital nomad, work while travelling
- Medium technical literacy

Safitri works at Natgeo as a content writer. She's a digital nomad, working while traveling around the world. Time has shown almost the lunch hour. She wants to have meaningful small talk with someone about content writing while eating her lunch. She opens the luncheon app, she searches available person to virtual talk then she finds Daniel, the product manager in Adelaide who interest in content writing. Safitri sent an invitation to him. Daniel who was just finished his job at 5 pm at his time is excited about the invitation. Now the two often have a good conversation for 30 minutes.

Competitive Analysis

There are so many well-known community application from group discussion like “meetup”, “eventbrite”, and the last hype right now is “clubhouse” to one on one conversation like “coffeeBreak”. The community group discussion have a huge user. Almost everyday people join event online or offline across niches. But community group discussion does not offer one on one conversation or meet a personal coach or trainer.

In the other hand, there is application like “coffeeBreak”, which unfortunately did not available in my home country, Indonesia, only offer one on one conversation. Based on my research this application did not offer group discussion yet and did not yet offer to meet personal coach. They only mention meet professional only that not mention any coaching opportunities. While in community application like whatsapp, user allowed to chat, video call within group or person but they cannot search the topic interest.

Luncheon is the combination of both, were people can have group discussion or talk one on one but also offering coaching opportunities in person. Someone who has coaching ability in specific area can offering his help and get paid. The discussion can be in chat message or video call.

Design Goal

The luncheon application were built to connect people based on their interest or hobby. With this app, users can be easily find & meet personal coach.

User can search activity, hobby, topic based on their need. User can join discussion group, can talk one on one with someone, and find or to be personal coach. Once they find activities which they want to join, they can send invitation to start conversation. The owner group, professional, or personal coach can received, approved, or rejected invitation, when the invitation were approved, they can start chat messaging or video call in specific time that were agreed upon each other. The text message were unlimited but for video call is limited to 30 minutes. Users can upgrade to premium to unlock unlimited video call duration and premium text emoji.

For the personal coach, they can started charge for services in the third meeting and it's based on mutual agreement between coach and mentee. The first meeting should be getting to know each other, the second meeting would be free course or free coaching. In the third meeting if the mentee want to continue coaching, they both can sit together and discuss about the fee and make their own term condition.

Prototype

In 7 April 2021, I still gather some design ideas in paper sketches before start wireframe. I would do usability test before create Hi-Fi. Why?

Simply because people will give good useful feedback in wireframe stage when there is no beautiful icon distract them.

COMPANY OVERVIEW

Plant Jammer, a vegetarian recipe creation app that combines AI in both unique and functional to substitute ingredients. The app is also promoted AI to create a recipe from the ingredients that we have on our fridge. It promotes healthy eating, learning in the kitchen, and reducing food waste. This four-year-old Danish start-up got a 4 million euro investment in its AI algorithm and platform.

REDESIGN PROCESS

The process is not include test. It would be better if testing were also conduct. I Used comments that give 3 ratings on google play. Why? Because they might be more objective compare someone who give 2 or 1 ratings.

EMPATHIZE

Problems that cannot solved with UI/UX

Problems with programming & AI alghoritm

bug and application errors

It's stuck on opening page, doesn't show anything bit even any progress or any loading icon Re installed it 3 times but same I feel it's more as scam than a practical app

However, every time I scroll too far the app crashes without fail.

When I did all the logging in it takes me off the app

I love the concept of this app but was never able to get my username to validate. Tried logging in with google also...still wouldn't register.

Good concept but for some reason I can't see the recipe in the app once it's generated? I had to share the link with myself so it would open in a browser where I could see the recipe. This seems like too much work. / It also added another ingredient in the recipe that I had not selected. Finally, and most importantly, the app consistently opened my gallery even after I kept hitting 'deny' when asked for media permissions. Not a fan of the intrusion AT ALL.

I wish it would be easier to form the shopping list without going back and forth one thing at a time. If they can fix this up, I'm sure I'd be over the moon.

the app needs polish, navigating through the app is painfully slow as it takes around 3 seconds after a tap for an action to occur.

Great app, however the bottom of the screen is cut off, I could barely press the button to go to the next screen. Would give more stars if issue gets fixed.

The UI doesn't for my screen. Pixel XL. It's clipped at the bottom.

problem with AI alghoritm

I selected several different veggies & ingredients and the app instructed I fry all of the veggies in a big pan, then stir in the Coconut Milk & Apple Cider Vinegar and mix. That's not a recipe, that sounds so gross.

All it does is combine ALL the foods you submit and mash them into frankenstein recipes that are likely to make you barf. No creativity or skill here.

the first section asks what food restrictions I want to have. I've been a vegetarian my whole life and to have the only option for vegetarian is that "I'll try vegetarian"... just seemed like the people who make this app are a little self righteous and put me off the app completely. I didn't go any further than that, it rubbed me the wrong way.

The app is overall okay and good, but I wish there were more recipes from all sorts of country and regions.

I think that should let us use more recipes

Even with other ingredients, how do these quantities/ratios make sense? I tried a stir fry & it turned into a veggie stew but with no liquid. The sauce was also odd. I hate grams as well.

Its a good source of ideas for what to cook/ how to make use of that kohlrabi in your fridge, but really only gives you a baseline. Wouldn't hurt to feature an anecdote function, with some additional steps you might want to take, but don't have to.

Problems with monetizing strategy

subscriptions too expensive

I don't mind paying, but the amount is huge for someone outside of the US. I could buy at least 12 cook books for the price of the lifetime subscription! I'm sorry but I don't think I'll ever afford to spend this much in an app.

Problems that can be solved with UI/UX

Users need additional features for allergies, convert measurements and non vegan recipes

additional feature for allergies

1) There is no option to set a manual blacklist, e.g. for less common allergies. 2) I also believe that the diet options should be extended to include pescetarians and people who only exclude red meat

My only issue is allergies. It would be helpful to have a list to select foods from to cut out of recipes, as well as having recipes for egg-free versions of baking that don't have to include seeds

convert measurements

There is no way to convert to metric measurements

It gives you useful suggestions for your recipe and also tries to figure out how to prep. Yet, there seems no way to change the suggested amounts of ingredients or the preparation steps. Where I change the suggested bake the spin...

additional future recipes for non vegan, low carb or high carb

Annoying backwards search tutorial on first use - Italian/American focused dishes first like pasta, wrap, burger - No puff pastry ingredient option - Vegetable focused search - No meat focused search option

App is vegetarian, "emptying your fridge" is only about veggies, which you shouldn't keep there anyway... No restriction to diets, can't choose from high protein/high fat/low carb

I would have given this 3 stars based off of the quality of the dishes I made, but because it's limited to vegetarian only meals, I give it a 2

but no meat recipes, why? If the vegetarian diet setting was just an option and not forced on you

I know it's to promote veganism and all that, but having an option to add animal products would be great.

I really like the idea of this app, however even with vegan diet selected it will still bring up recipes using animal products.

Users unsatisfied with app aesthetic design

bad apps design

seems OK, but why does it look like a broken website?

no flavour chart or food taste explanation

Some things took a bit of practice to figure out, for example: trying to set up a meal to include a specific item. Or the flavour chart could use a bit more explanation.

USER PERSONA & SCENARIO

Daniella

Demographics

Age : 40
Occupation : Digital Nomad
Location : Zurich, Switzerland
Life Stage : Married, 2 Children

Personas: Concretizing User Needs

Motivators

- Mid level career
- Want to live healthy lifestyle
- Meat eater, but sometimes want to cook more veggies for families

Constraints

- Doesn't like strict vegetarian diet, sometimes eat fish and meat.
- High mobility, travel alot
- Having allergies with peanuts
- Medium technical literacy

Rajith Singh

Demographics

Age : 25
Occupation : PhD Student
Location : Delft, Netherlands
Life Stage : Single

Motivators

- Entry level career
- Willing to keep vegetarian lifestyle
- Want to improve cooking skill
- Need something practical and easy to maintain

Constraints

- Consider as strict vegan, doesn't eat meat, fish, egg, and diary products.
- Need something quick and easy
- High technical literacy

"As a digital nomad, Daniella work from home with multiple clients overseas. Today is Sunday, time to shopping raw foods to cook at home for next week. She is having digestive problems and the doctor suggested her to eat more veggies. But Daniella is not a vegetarian, she's a meat-eater. So she opens Plant Jammer Application to find the recipe. She clicks the button "do you want to cook some veggies" then inputs her allergies. She finds the avocado egg toasts recipe looks tempting but she wants to reduce egg consumption in her diet. She's choosing the option "pescatarian vegan". The recipe changes and can be substituted with salmon, tofu, or soy yogurt. She very happy with the ingredient's substitution."

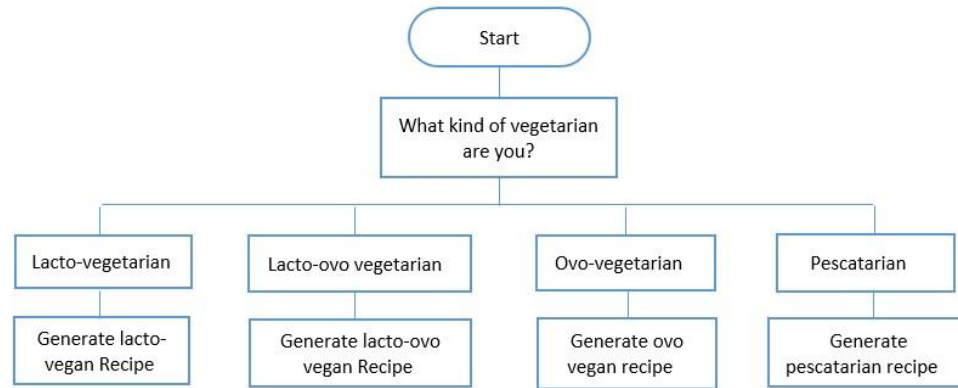

DEFINE

- Based on the affinity diagram, it was found that the app for some users consider as a strict vegetarian app while there are four types of vegetarian
- Not all users were always eating vegetarian food, some of them want to include meat in their consumption occasionally, so they give the app 3 out of 5 ratings.
- Some of the users also mention that the app looks less aesthetic.
- The measurement also confusing for some users.

IDEATE

- Due to Plant Jammer is a vegetarian app, additional types of vegetarian are needed (Concept no.1).
- If Plant Jammer wants to take a look at the non-vegetarian niche, the additional meat recipe can be included (Concept no.2).
- Aesthetic design is an important factor.
- A measuring cup, teaspoon, and tablespoon are common kitchen utility which everyone has. For suggestion, better we use measurement in cup, teaspoon, and tablespoon rather than ml or grams unless it cannot be measure using those tools.
